Mountain View Council Meeting

The regular council meeting of Mountain View municipality was held last Tuesday at Olds, with Reeve Flinn in the chair.

A capital grant for market roads has been made to the municipality of $1,520 by the provincial government. It was decided to divide the grant 50-50 between the Olds and Didsbury market roads to the east. The municipality is required to expend a like sum on the roads. Mr. A. Frame, district engineer for the provincial government, was present and discussed with the council the allocation of the grant.

A bylaw was passed making a grant to the Salvation Army of $200 for social service work. The municipality has several charges in the Old People's Home conducted by the Army.

Mr. Floyd Ahlgren was again appointed weed inspector and has already commenced his round of inspection.

A number of applications for tax consolidation were approved and three certificates under the Farmers' Arrangement Act were reported.

Proposed Livestock Marketing Schemes

The Dominion Marketing Board, after thorough investigation, has approved the principles of the livestock marketing plans advanced by groups of producers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and in making this announcement paid a high compliment to the western livestock men who have been engaged for several months in a study of the Natural Products Marketing Act in its relationship to their own marketing problems. Their work, the board considers, should result in a most valuable contribution to the livestock industry of the western provinces, for it offers western producers an opportunity, heretofore impossible, to improve their own positions.

The three provisional local boards will now immediately proceed to an examination of the factors involved in the operation of the proposed schemes, as these relate to both producers and other livestock interests. To expedite matters it is the intention of the chairman of the Dominion Marketing Board to meet the provisional local boards in Western Canada at an early date.

H. H. Stevens Heads New Political Party

A new political party in Canada had its birth over the week-end. Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce in the Bennett government, has accepted its leadership.

A name has not yet been chosen, but will be shortly, and at the same time a manifesto setting forth its aims and ambitions, will be issued.

The announcement was made by Mr. Stevens to parliamentary correspondents on Sunday afternoon. He said that the objective is to have a candidate in every constituency, running under the colors of this new political orientation. The movement has long been mooted, but it came to a head only on Friday in Hamilton.

Shower Bride-to-be.

Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dageforde a surprise shower was given in honor of Miss Jennie Stringer's approaching marriage. Vacation Days

That happy period in childhood, the mid-summer school holidays, is near at hand. With shouts of joy, laughter, and on running feet the boys and girls of Canada will announce to all the world "School's out," and they will toss their books aside to be forgotten for a couple of months.

In these later days much is heard of shorter working hours, more leisure for the workers of the world, and all kinds of proposals are advanced as to how those leisure hours may be spent in order that they may prove a blessing rather than a drawback in the development of a better type of citizen; in order that they may add to the pleasure and true enjoyment of life rather than tend towards pure idleness and even shiftlessness.

Now, with two months of absence from school for their children, what are Canadian parents planning for these energetic boys and girls, to keep them out of mischief and to make this vacation time freed from study wholly beneficial and an asset which will prove of value in better health, clearer minds, and a most wholesome outlook on life,—in a word, prepare these citizens of the future to return to the school rooms some weeks hence keen for another period of study and preparation for life?

Older boys and girls are already home from college, annual church conferences and assemblies have been held, nurses' graduation from hospitals are completed, examinations of all kinds are nearing an end, teachers, too, will be free of their duties, spring work on the farm is past, and in town and city the quiet time in business is at hand. Thus the older generation is able to devote more time and more thought to making these happy days of childhood a real joy and blessing not only to the children but to themselves.

And so the question arises, and ought to be faced, what can we do individually and collectively to make the summer vacation of 1935 a never-to-be-forgotten period in the lives and memories of Canada's boys and girls,—your own boys and girls? It is a responsibility to be discharged, just as it is a pleasure to be derived by those who discharge the responsibility. And this combined responsibility and pleasure for parents, and unalloyed pleasure for children, should not be neglected this year especially, following, as it does, so many years of economic depression and, for many in this western country, disastrous crop failures and business reverses.

Fortunately, it does not cost much in money to give children a good time, a happy holiday. Fortunately, again, Canada is blessed by Nature with almost innumerable beauty spots for holiday purposes. There is not a province in Canada which does not abound in lakes, large and small; summer resorts and camping grounds are numerous, places to camp and picnic are to be found in easily accessible places. Full advantage should be taken of these to provide outings for the boys and girls, even though individual circumstances may make such outings of brief duration.

In summer time especially Canada is a land for out-of-doors. Get the boys and girls out into the open, and keep them there as much as possible. They are in school rooms and shut up in houses in the winter time for long months of the year; they need the health-giving properties of the sun throughout the summer holiday season, the clean, invigorating fresh air, the delights of forest and lake. Get them as close as possible to Nature in her happiest moods and most beautiful dress.

And make these vacation days of lasting benefit in other ways. See that the boys and girls are taught to swim. It is little less than a crime that so many Canadian boys and girls never learn to swim, and so many tragedies result which are so easily preventable. The art of swimming should be a part of every child's education. It is not only one of the best forms of exercise, making for the development of muscle; it is not only a source of great pleasure; but it is a preparation for emergencies that may arise in their own lives or in the lives of others.

Unconsciously, too, the work of the school room can be carried forward. Powers of observation can be developed and strengthened during vacation days spent in the open; habits of cleanliness, neatness, orderliness, can be made a part of camp and holiday life, and accepted as part of the fun, which will stand children in good stead in future years; initiative, ideas in handicrafts, resort to simple invention to meet the lack of usual equipment at home—all these things mean a greater all-round development of character.

An elaborately organized holiday is not necessary, neither should much expense be entailed. Get out with the children and rough it for a while. They will enjoy it just as much, perhaps more, than an expensive trip or outing where everything is planned and arranged for them. To a large extent, the boys and girls should do a full share of the camp or holiday work. Properly organized and time systematically divided between these duties and the hours of play, boys and girls will enjoy and benefit from doing the camp chores.

Forget the motor car occasionally, and spend a day on a hike. Older lads know the delights and benefits of a walking tour, or a day's hike, which Canadians have not learned to appreciate. Try one this year with your older boys and girls.

Think up other things and ways in which this holiday season can be made happy, healthful and useful. Vacation days present an opportunity to get closer to your children than is possible in the busier days of the year. It is an opportunity for you to study them; ascertain their weaknesses, or strength; gain their confidence in larger measure; learn of their ambitions, and as a result be in a better position to mold their characters along right lines, and check tendencies and habits, hitherto un-noted by you, which would prove a handicap to them, and a possible source of future worry and sorrow to yourself as well as to them.

Lloyd's Insure Vimy Pilgrimage

Stress Necessity Of Making Early Bookings

The Canadian Legion announced to-day that Lloyd's of London, England, have insured the Vimy Pilgrimage, to be held in July of next year, against abandonment in the event of war, financial panic or other untoward events.

Bookings are pouring into the steamship companies. Hope is expressed by Legion officials that ex-service men realize the necessity of registering early in order to be certain of accommodation.

"It is difficult to impress a veteran with the idea of making a ten dollar deposit now when he knows he can pay the full hundred and sixty dollars when the time comes," said Captain Ben Allen, Dominion organizer, to the press to-day. "Early bookings are necessary, however, so that we can get enough ships to take care of the thousands who intend going." "And Pilgrims only are going to be allowed to sail in this Peace Armada. Also we must arrange early for billeting accommodation and rail and motor transportation in France. The naval, military and civil authorities in France, Belgium and England are extending us every co-operation. It looks like Canada's year in Europe next year."

Held Up By Robin

Nesting Bird Delays Altering Of Huge C.N.R. Sign

Plans to alter a huge electric sign fronting the Canadian National station in Winnipeg were thwarted out of consideration for a mother robin whose nest is attached to the letter "r".

Wording of a new sign designed to replace the old had been carefully worked out. Electricians were summoned and all was in readiness to flash out the attractions of summer excursions. Then office workers who had seen the bird sitting on her four eggs reported to officials, and it was decided, excursions or no excursions, Mrs. Robin must not be disturbed.

Meantime efforts were being made to work out a sign which would leave the "r" in its present position.

Latest Life-Saving Net

Device For Use At Sea Was Successfully Tested

An ingenious life-saving net which experts state will minimize perils of the sea has been demonstrated at Cardiff.

The invention is a raft consisting of tubular cork bags made into a net lashed with rope. It is produced by a Cardiff ship-repairing firm.

It can be unrolled down a ship's side to serve as a ladder, or floated alongside foundering or burning vessels in conditions which would make the launching of an ordinary life-boat impossible.

Orders have been received from liner and "tramp" firms. The device is expected to form the basis of a new industry.

Canadian Bronco Buster Reported To Have Wed Daughter Of Tom Mix

Ruth Mix, daughter of Tom Mix, and Harry Knight, champion Canadian bronco buster, eloped to Reno, Nev., where they were married, said a telegram from Knight received at Hollywood by Tex Austin, promoter of cowboy contests.

"We tied the knot to-day," read the message.

Miss Mix, whose father is famous for cowboy roles on the screen, formerly was married to Douglas Gilmore, an actor. Their marriage was annulled at Middleton, N.Y., in July, 1932.

Knight's home is at Banff, Alta.

In Manitoba, says the Winnipeg Tribune, the duties start daily, Sundays included, somewhere around 8 a.m., and last frequently until the clock turns to a.m. of the following day. Not more than a thousand organizations of one kind and another have their eye on the governor as a prospective guest at one or more events.

Little Journeys In Science

BROMINE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Bromine was discovered about a century ago by the French scientist Ballard. The element occurs in nature as bromides, chiefly as magnesium bromide and sodium bromide, which are found in many springs and salt deposits. The Stassfurt deposits in Germany and the salt waters of Michigan and Ohio are richest in bromides. Sea water also contains small amounts of bromides.

Bromide is prepared commercially by the electrolysis of a solution of a bromide or by treating solutions of bromides with the more active element chlorine.

In recent years the demand for bromide has greatly increased, due to its use in the preparation of a compound called ethylene bromide. This compound is a constituent of ethyl gasoline. An effort is being made at the present time by scientists to obtain additional supplies of bromine from the bromides in sea water. Sea water contains about seventy parts of bromide in a million of water, which means that about 2,000 gallons of the water must be treated to secure a pound of bromine. To recover bromine from sea-water, a ship was equipped capable of recovering 100,000 pounds of the element per month. It has been reported that the trial trip of this vessel was quite successful, and as a result of this rather large size experiment a plant has been built on the Atlantic coast for the extraction of bromine from the ocean. The success of this venture has suggested the possibility of extracting gold from sea water in a similar way.

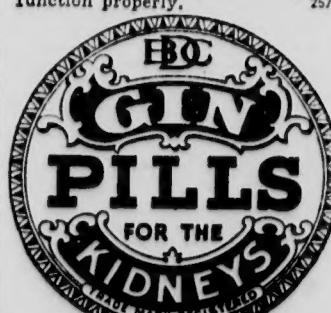

Bromine is a dark-red fuming liquid with a very disagreeable odor. Bromine vapor attacks the eyes very painfully and produces great irritation when inhaled. It is about three times as heavy as water and is moderately soluble in water.

Bromides are compounds produced when bromine combines with other elements. Those of potassium and sodium are used in medicine as sedatives and in the preparation of silver bromide, which is used extensively in photography as the sensitive material on the plate. Bromine is also used in the preparation of important dyes. Considerable quantities of bromine are used in the manufacture of tear-gases, or lachrymators.

What Modern Engineering Could Do In Changing The Climatic Conditions

Hints of a "made-over" world, thanks to modern invention and natural science, were given at a recent meeting of geographical experts in London.

The talk was by Leopold Amery, former Dominions Secretary of State for Great Britain, who captured his audience's imagination by setting them upon a magic carpet and whisking them to far places at will.

The first stopping place was amongst the foggy icecaps of Labrador. Here he bade them look down at the narrow channel skirting the northern extremity of Newfoundland. He pictured to them what engineers there might some day do by damming the straits of Belle Isle, thereby "diverting the Labrador icebergs, which now drift inside the Gulf of St. Lawrence," thus "securing an earlier spring for the whole of eastern Canada."

The occasion of the meeting was the launching of the first issue of the Geographical Magazine, a new journal for the advancement of exploration and research.

Scarcely had they time to imagine the vast added area of smiling fruitfulness that might thereby be created, when he whisked them off to Constantinople and showed them the narrow stream of the fast-flowing Bosphorus. This he suggested might some day be closed by a 200-foot high dam, behind which the water would gradually rise until there was restored that great inland ocean which "once included the Black Sea, the Caspian and the Sea of Aral almost to the Afghan border." Neither of these enterprises, he said, was from the purely technical point beyond the powers of present-day engineering.

His carpet fluttered on and hovered next over the 6,000-foot high plateau of Abyssinia. Beneath was the 40-mile-broad Lake Tana. Beyond was the wide Blue Nile stream emerging from the lake to plunge into a 400-mile-long ravine. This ravine, the travellers could see, lay amid mountain ranges towering a mile high above it on either bank. The Blue Nile flowed on a 1,000-mile course to join the White Nile at Khartoum. The damming of this gorge with infinite possibilities of increased fertility for the already rich cotton fields of the Sudan and Egypt he described to-day as even "nearer to practical politics."

The magic carpet sped on faster still. The breathless voyagers were afforded a glimpse of vast swamps of the Upper Nile that Mr. Amery indicated were capable of being drained. They saw from afar the ancient irrigation system of Mesopotamia that might some day be restored. They were shown the possibility of systematic colonization with reindeer and musk oxen of that great prairie region of Northern Canada which their guide reminded them little deserved its present title of "Barren Land." They saw also the fertile clay belt round Hudson's Bay that might, he suggested, be drained and brought under cultivation.

Mr. Amery's carpet must have passed close in its flight, though it did not stop over yet other regions of little less magic possibility. There is the Dead Sea area in Palestine, hundreds of feet below the level of the Red Sea with which a now blocked up gorge still connects it. There are the 6,000,000 acres of "shotts" in Southern Algiers where the western desert of the Sahara is so deep below the level of the neighboring Mediterranean Sea as to make modern engineers dream of a day when they may be able to admit vitalizing water to now barren soil.

Canada's First Railway

Plans for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the opening of Canada's first railroad are being formulated by the Canadian Railroad Historical Association, Montreal. Canada's first railway was known as the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad and operated between Laperrière, Que., and St. Johns, Que. It was opened by Lord Gosford on July 21, 1836.

Growing Excellent Grapes

B.C. Vineyards Produce Fruit As Good As Italy's

Vineyards yielding grapes as good as any in California or even in Italy are located in British Columbia. Dreams being shared by Kelowna farmers cultivating 100 acres of plantings and of those in Sumas area, include:

Villages and districts springing up in the Fraser valley and Okanagan around central wineries.

Independence on a five-acre patch. Sharing with Old World growers rich rewards from the United States, which last year imported liquors and wines valued at $49,000,000.

Fertility of these two potential vineyard regions of the province has been proven.

Experience of F. Beltrame, pioneer grower of the lower mainland, shows Sumas district alone has many areas that fill the bill just as well as Italy, southern France or California. He envisaged the potentialities 22 years ago.

At present he was about 40 acres under crop in addition to one-year and two-year-old vines, on his ranch near Sardis, on Sumas Prairie, near the river at the foot of Sumas mountain.

The grapes are excellent in quality and sell readily in Vancouver, New Westminster and other centres, and are pronounced as good as any imported from California or other United States grape-growing districts.

Grapes average $80 a ton, yields approximately five to eight tons an acre, and small holdings not exceeding 10 acres are advocated. Mr. Beltrame claims, from years of patient experimentation.

Early Diagnosis Needed

Ignorance Is The Cancer Patient's Greatest Enemy, Says Speaker

Only one-third of cancer patients who undergo treatment receive it in time to be cured, Dr. R. O. Davison, deputy minister of public health for Saskatchewan, stated in Toronto.

The chairman of the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission, speaking before the Canadian Social Hygiene Council and the Toronto Health League declared, "ignorance is the cancer patient's greatest enemy."

Formation of a Canadian branch of the British Empire Cancer Commission in conjunction with the King George V. silver jubilee cancer foundation was urged.

Neglect, lack of pain, failure to take the disease seriously, inability to pay for treatment, fear, were some of the reasons given by 200 examined in a Saskatchewan clinic for failure to be examined earlier.

Of 543 practitioners questioned, 124 had never seen a cancer case.

U.S. Indemnity

Canada Agrees To Pay $350,000 In Settlement Of Damages

The United States senate ratified a convention with Canada under which the latter agrees to pay the United States $350,000 in settlement of damages in the State of Washington caused by sulphur fumes discharged from the smelter of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., at Trail, B.C.

The sum would be for damages suffered prior to January 1, 1932. The convention also sets up a tribunal to decide whether any damage has been caused since that date and if so what indemnity should be allowed.

Sees His First Train

Subpoenaed by Royal Canadian Mounted Police to give evidence in Halifax as a Crown witness, Louis Westhaver, 22-year-old native of Guysboro county, recently realized two of his greatest ambitions—to see a train and a tramcar. He rode in both. The 150-mile trip to and from the Nova Scotia capital was free. The street car excursion cost him 10 cents.

Would Help Dairy Farmer

England Thinking Of Establishing Milk Bars Through Country

Britain may soon be quenching its thirst at Milk Bars.

The idea comes from the Milk Marketing Board.

The board's vice-chairman, Ben Hinds, told farmers at Pwllheli that milk bars "would enable the touring public to obtain for themselves and their children best nutritious refreshments."

They were contemplating establishing bars in many parts of the country.

Already schools of Britain have their "bars." Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, inaugurated the scheme. Soon he may be "drawing" the first tankard to quench Britain's thirst—and help the British dairy farmer.—London Daily Mirror.

Preparing For The Future

British Television Station To Occupy Wing Of Alexandria Palace

The first British television station will be built at Alexandria Palace it is officially announced.

The B.B.C. wants nearly the whole of the south wing, which comprises the Masonic suite, the Pillar Hall and refreshment bar," E. A. Cawdron, chairman of the trustees, said.

The postmaster-general stated in the House of Commons in February that steps would be taken to establish a television station in London during the latter half of this year.

Experts emphasize that television will not come into general use for some considerable time. There is no danger of listeners' ordinary sets becoming rapidly obsolete.

Need For Reform Of Immigration Laws Stressed At Social Work Meeting

Carrier Pigeons Unreliable

Manitoba Forestry Service Finds Their Work Of No Value

Carrier pigeons have fallen from their high pedestal. In flight parlance they are termed a "bust" and many will be ineligible for re-employment with the Manitoba forestry service when summer air patrols zoom away over forest areas of the hinterlands.

Carefully conducted experiments last year revealed the best "homers" were more unreliable than temperamental humans. The majority would not fly at night and often they objected to day flight routine. They can be depended on only for short distances during good weather.

A few of the birds that made assigned runs in any time up to 24 hours will be retained. Many took much longer and their work was practically valueless. Sometimes they refused to fly or delayed a long time before taking off. Not a few failed to return.

Best travel records were flights of 150 miles in three hours, 100 miles in two hours and thirty minutes and 60 miles in one hour and fifteen minutes. A few will be used to report progress of fires and employed during forced aeroplane landings.

A scold's bridle, once used to punish talkative women, was sold recently in London for $40.

Need for reform of border immigration laws was urged by Miss Mary McPhaedran, Vancouver, before the national conference of social work in Montreal.

She cited as an instance the case history of the James family. Mr. James was born in United States of English parents. He married an English girl domiciled in Canada while visiting Canada and they went back to the United States. Two children were born in the United States, then the family moved to Canada. Another child was born. Now the family is divorced and the status of the children seems impossible to define, she said, except that the third child has a dual nationality.

In another case a Canadian working in the United States married an American there and had several children. He lost his job with the depression and was deported to Canada. Result is he is living in Canada, unemployed, while his wife and children are destitute in United States—immigration laws separating them.

In a third instance, Miss McPhaedran told of the trouble an American couple had in adopting a six-year-old Canadian girl. It took two years to complete formalities.

Canadian law had one bright side, lacking in United States, which allowed the secretary of state, on application from welfare societies, to suspend rulings on humanitarian grounds, she added.

"The theory of local responsibility for relief is outmoded," Fred R. Johnson, state superintendent of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, Detroit, told delegates.

"Unemployment causing the need for relief is not a local issue," continued Mr. Johnson. "The causes which produce it are national and international. We have not yet mastered the technique of relationship between the federal government and our states in the field of relief. Governmental machinery is cumbersome. It takes time to develop new methods of organization."

"In these days we are faced with two alternatives," said Prof. Percy Nobbs, dean of architecture at McGill University, in an address on housing. The alternatives as he described them are "provide assisted housing for the lower wage earners; or let them live in cast-off accommodation, which means in the slums. I am reasonably assured that this second alternative costs so much in sickness, misery and inefficiency that the community as a whole is better off by shouldering the burden of an assisted housing for these wage groups."

Due to the success of the educational campaign and the publicity maintained by Christmas seals, the depression has brought no curtailment of anti-tuberculosis programs in Canada, Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary, Canadian Tuberculosis Association, Ottawa, explained.

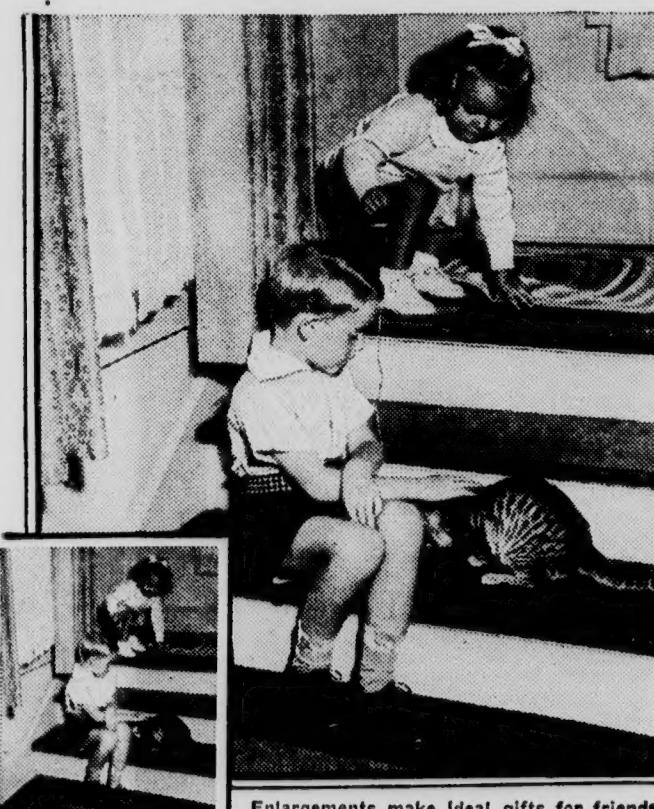

Dr. Wherrett mentioned the funds raised by the Canadian Red Cross Society for the study of tuberculosis among school children and a five year educational program in the Maritime provinces, where death rates were particularly high, to which the Canadian Life Insurance Officials Association granted over $200,000. One large insurance company had contributed funds to send 30 students from Canada to study tuberculosis in Europe.

"Facilities are now available in every province," Dr. Wherrett said, "for carrying out a fair program. It is of interest to note that one province, Saskatchewan, provides free treatment for all tuberculosis patients, irrespective of their ability to pay, while another province, Manitoba, has a municipal levy which distributes the cost of indigents among various municipalities."

Radio receivers outnumber telephones in the United States, there being 19,000,000 radios, exclusive of auto sets and homes having more than one receiver, compared with about 11,000,000 home telephones.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ENLARGEMENTS

Enlargements make ideal gifts for friends and relations.

Everything considered, snapshotters are a lucky lot. As we have seen, they have the edge on ordinary mortals in the matter of really personal, meaningful birthday or other types of greeting cards. And they have the means of creating gifts of exceptional charm and value.

These particular "means" are the snapshot negatives from which beautiful enlargements can be made. If you haven't yet experimented with enlargements, now's the time.

In enlarging a picture you get not only a bigger, more realistic image, but the opportunity to select the best part of any negative for magnification. Suppose you have a good negative of the youngsters at play in the sandbox—a picture which their grandparents would be delighted to have enlarged, as a gift. But suppose there's something incongruous—a wash on the line, a lawn mower or anything else that doesn't add a thing to the charm of the view—to the right or left of the children. With an enlargement, that distracting, unnecessary feature can be completely eliminated.

Enlargements may be of almost any size. Any good negative, no matter how small, may be "blown up" to make a picture five or six times the size of the original. A sharp 2 1/4 x

At the present time the world wheat situation is governed by two important factors, namely (1) the value of the old crop wheat which will be required by importing countries before July 31, along with the conditions surrounding that movement, and (2) the development of new crops in Europe and in North America.

Interest in the 1935 production, says the monthly review by the Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics dated June 21, now centres around wheat crops in various stages of development in Canada, in the United States, and in Europe. While it is too early to indicate yields, owing to natural hazards to be experienced before the grain is ready for market, there are several general observations that may be made, based upon developments up to the present time. In the first place, there is evidence that Europe is not going to harvest a better than average yield per acre and there is little prospect of the phenomenal harvests of 1933.

The cool weather experienced in North America during the month of May was also prevalent in Europe, snow and frost being reported in central and northern countries. Adverse reports are being received from Spain, Portugal, and Southern Italy, while crop conditions in France and Poland are not so favorable as they were a year ago. In North Africa, compared with a year ago, there will be a substantial reduction in the yield, the most important losses being reported from Morocco.

Creditors Must Agree
Before Action Taken

Amendments to the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act passed at the session of Dominion parliament just closed and effective for some weeks, require agreement of all secured creditors before arrangements can be perfected by the receivers office, officials explained Monday.

The new regulation will also mean that some of the arrangements made prior to the amendments becoming effective will have to be reopened.

Formerly, in order to perfect a scaling-down of debts in any particular case, agreement of all secured creditors and enough unsecured ones to represent 70 percent of the total indebtedness was sufficient.

Under the new arrangement all the secured creditors and 75 percent of the unsecured ones must be in agreement to make adjustments effective.

The other major amendment, announced and effective some time ago, extends to the applicant farmer a stay of all proceedings from the time his application is received for the 90 days following. Under the original arrangement the farmer was protected 60 days.

WEEKLY JOKE

Mrs. Tugson had bought a perambulator on the hire-purchase plan. Month after month she visited the store which sold it to her, handing over the meagre instalments. Her visits were so numerous that she became well known to the assistant who served her. At last the time came when Mrs. Tugson had paid in full. The assistant bade her a touching farewell as he handed her the receipt. "I shall miss you, Mrs. Tugson," he said, "you've been one of our best customers. How's the baby getting along?" Mrs. Tugson gave a satisfied smile. "Very well, thank you," she replied. "He's getting married next week."

Canada Year Book for 1934-1935

The publication of the 1934-35 edition of the Canada Year Book is announced by the General Statistics Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc. - in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1934-35 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,250 pages, dealing with every phase of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. Attention may be called to the statistical summary of the progress of Canada included in the introductory matter and giving a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-four years ago.

The volume is illustrated by many maps and diagrams and the latest available data are everywhere included. Immigration and trade statistics for the fiscal year 1934-35 and dairying statistics, which it was not possible to include in Chapter VIII when this was being printed, will be found in the Appendices.

Owing to the urgent need for economy in the distribution of Government publications, it has become necessary to make a charge to all individuals receiving the Canada Year Book. Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50, which covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession, ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers may obtain copies at the nominal price of 50¢ each.

Hay Fever Season NearNew York Doctor Has Treatment For Numerous Ailments

With the hay fever "season" drawing near, Dr. William H. Dieffenbach, of New York, revealed what he believes is an effective treatment for that ailment, and also for common colds, abscessed teeth and certain types of tonsillitis.

The treatment, he said, is by ultra-short radio waves, and is administered by a small economical apparatus not unlike a short wave radio set.

Dr. Dieffenbach, speaking before the convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, explained the machine was developed after a study of the reason why radio operators, working in close quarters on ships and subjected to short waves, did not have colds.

The patient is placed on a table, the physician explained, with his head between two electrodes which do not touch him. The cold treatments last from 10 to 15 minutes and are given daily for five or six days.

Soviet Divorce LawsFeeling Held In Russia That There Should Be More Stringency

The communist party's organ Pravda called for a campaign against "Don Juan" ideas and abuse of the easy Soviet divorce laws.

In line with the new Bolshevik "morality program" which the press has been preaching in recent weeks, Pravda said a woman must not be treated merely as a subject for flirtation, to be abandoned after a short-term marriage.

Both marriage and divorce are obtainable in the Soviet union merely by registering in the neighborhood civil registry office. Too many people, Pravda said, view marriage as they do taking a street car ride.

Here is a phrase connoting frenzied anger bordering on madness.

The allusion is to the mythological Scandinavian hero, Berserk, who fought naked and regardless of wounds, while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Our Beautiful Snow And Blue GeeseBy JACK MINER
Canadian Naturalist

Readers please pardon a few words of my wild goose history. The ancient facts are that I was from 1904 to 1908 getting the first 11 Canada Geese to alight at Kingsville, and by 1912 the flock had grown to be known all over the continent. That spring one blue goose came with the honkers and to tell the whole truth I had not been far enough from home to know what it was, but we named her dolly white head. In 1915 we started banding the Canada Geese and soon got in touch with the Eskimos and Missionaries of the far north. We found that the Eskimos called these Blue and Lesser Snow Geese, Wavies. Well gradually more and more wavies came until I found myself weaving and waving away into wavy anticipation as wavies were seen at Point Pelee, Rondeau, St. Clair Flats, Cedar Creek, and Anderson Marsh. In fact odd ones were seen for fifty miles around our sanctuary and I got the snow and blue goose fever so badly that I wrote Mr. Paul Reddington who was then Chief of the United States Biological Survey, at Washington, D.C., asking permission to go into the Louisiana Marshes to band the wavies. He replied at once stating he would allow me the privilege providing I would put the United States Biological Survey Bands on them. To this I made no reply, but in about two weeks I received another letter offering me the privilege to put my band on one leg and the United States Biological Survey band on the other. Readers please pardon my lack of grammatical education, but if Mr. Reddington had written me the last letter first I would have banded five thousand of those wavies in less than three years, and the results could have gone into all the schools in America. But by the time I received that last letter I had changed my plans and I planted an evergreen forest border two rods wide around a ten acre back field, then I dug a small pond in the centre of the field and named this ten acres the wavy field and I placed five wing-tipped wavies in this ten acres, and last spring, 1934, we caught and banded seven wavies, six blues and one snow, and according to a report I saw in the Toronto Globe there was a blue goose seen near London. This is fully one hundred miles east of my home, where we are gradually drawing the wavies from the West, but the report stated this goose had orange color on its head. Now this orange is not a goose color at all; it is an orange stain gathered from feeding in the dead flags and oat tails where they nose about for the tender roots below. Well, about May 10th, these seven banded wavies circled high and took the northern air line special for parts as yet unknown to me, and nothing worthy of mention happened until between one and two A.M., October 20th, when I was awakened by an ear full of honks, and when daylight came we found that fifty-three honkers had arrived, and one young snow goose. We named this goose Lucy Snow and Lucy Snow is going to be banded. Monday, October 29th, was a beautiful cold morning and the bright blue sky was dotted here and there with low dark scudding clouds. The sun shining through in different places gave the heavens a glorious—yes, I feel like saying a glorious whispering effect. I was, of course, out chumming with all nature, when my north eye picked up as thrilling a sight as I will ever remember. Here were about fifty honkers with their honks and motors shut off, planing down out of the Heavens. They were not moving a feather, but remained in their V. formation and apparently just sat down on the air with their wings bowed downward in a half circle, as perfect and as uniform as so many new moons with their faces down. Following them was not a flock, but a small swarm of wavies—yes, there were over five hundred of them. Some of the V-shaped lines would be most all snows, while the others would be blues. Some lines were mixed about fifty-fifty. The adult snow geese being pure white, all but about twelve flight feathers at the tips of each wing, which are dark; the young being a smoky white. The adult blues have a pure white head and slate colored breast. The young blues vary from light to dark slate color, and heads from smoky white to dark slate—seldom two alike. These lesser snows and blue geese are one and the same birds in habits and size. They differ only in color and in captivity they will cross as readily as Wyandotte chickens, and I am sure they cross in the wild state, for I have a high-bred wild one here right now. So it is plain to be seen there would be at least six different colors in that beautiful flock of wavies. Yes, the Eskimos have it right. They are wavies and how they did weave and wave in the sunlight and shadow as they passed over this sanctuary, and will you believe it, this swarm of wavies was followed by another flock, then later on another and another until five flocks passed over, and in all there would be at least fifteen hundred. They passed over Kingsville on Monday, October 29th.

I believe they were booked right through to Louisiana but had there been only fifteen or twenty in that first flock, my picked-up bird knowledge causes me to believe they would have landed here with the fifty honkers that they were following. I also believe they had rested somewhere between James Bay and here, as the majority were young birds, and they were all flying high and strong. In closing I just wish to say that the thrills I am getting out of knowing that the Canada Geese are gradually influencing these beautiful wavies to come here, and that I have been able to catch and band seven in my little brickyard mudhole, home and bird sanctuary, brings me more heart pleasure and thrills me with more wide-awake bubbling over anticipation of the possibilities of what can be done at home than if I had gone into Louisiana and banded seven thousand. Therefore I can conscientiously say I am thankful glad I did not receive that last letter first.

To Meet In Vancouver

The next annual convention will be held in Vancouver, delegates to the Canadian Authors' Association in session at Montreal decided. Mrs. Hamar Jackson, of the Pacific coast city, advised the association Vancouver will celebrate its jubilee next summer and delegates would be able to see the celebrations.

Recorded TelevisionNew Scientific Wonder, "Gramovision", Demonstrated Before Press Representatives

A new scientific wonder, which promises to be one of the great home entertainments of the future, was demonstrated in public for the first time when the inventor, F. Plew, demonstrated "gramovision", or "recorded television," before press representatives in London.

He put a record on a gramophone turntable and pictures appeared on the screen of a television receiver.

Suitable records can be made for the television sets that will receive the high-definition programs to be sent out by the B.B.C. in the near future.

"I have been working for about 10 years on television and for two years on this idea," Mr. Plew said. "Shortly I shall demonstrate a record containing both vision and sound. The addition of sound is a fairly simple matter."

Light Ray Is AccurateDetermines Whether Pearl Is Real Or Cultured Gem

A tiny beam of light thrown into a pearl has definitely solved the problem of telling natural from cultured pearls, George C. Block, Los Angeles jeweller, revealed.

"The endoscope, one of the many scientific devices which have taken much of the uncertainty out of the buying of gems," Brock said, "throws the beam of light into the pearl through a needle. If the pearl is true the light follows the concentric layers of its core and is reflected into the eyes of the observer."

"If the pearl is of the cultured variety the light beam reveals the mother-of-pearl head which is artificially planted in the oyster to protect the pearl."

No Leather ShortageSituation Here Not Parallel With United States

Canadian consumers and boot and shoe manufacturers have no need for concern if a shortage of heavy sole leather due to drought and increased slaughtering of heavy cattle in the United States develops in the republic, Dominion government officials said.

"The feared United States situation is not paralleled in Canada and the slaughter of heavy cattle in the Dominion is almost negligible, as the tendency is to market our cattle earlier than formerly," officials said. Approximately 95 per cent. of boots and shoes worn by Canadians are manufactured in this country, it was estimated. Of those imported the great bulk was from the United Kingdom.

Leave For Arctic PostsR.C.M.P. Constables And Inspector Take Up New Position

Three R.C.M.P. constables, who have already left Regina for Arctic posts, will shortly be joined by Inspector G. J. M. Curleigh and his bride. The latter was Miss Jean Stoddart, Regina.

Inspector and Mrs. Curleigh will go to Aklavik Constable G. Abraham, with a record of previous northern service, goes to take charge of Arctic Red River detachment. Constable D. C. Slinn, a Reginan, to Fort Resolution and Constable R. E. Medley to Cameron Bay. They will go "in" from McMurray by river boat.

The Usual Place

Possibly you, too, have wondered where King George puts his hat when he is in church. When His Majesty attended the thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral in London, he was wearing the special plumed hat that is reserved for such occasions. During the service, the hat was simply put on the floor at the King's feet, just where every other man usually puts his hat when he goes to church.

Zuni Indian women of the American southwest are so used to balancing large pottery jars on their heads that some women can even run without touching the jar with their hands.

"But she had on silk stockings, Jack, and high-heeled slippers! They looked so incongruous with all the rest of her. Well, that'll be somthing to write home about. I wonder if we ought to go inside. Do you know, I—I feel sort of nervous. I wish heres coming for us would come and get it over with."

"Let's stay right here, this air's so marvellous. Do you suppose they often get such days in winter? Watch out, sis!" Jack lowered his voice. "Catch onto the old dame in the fireman's shirt."

Nancy smiled, eyes following her brothers. A white-haired woman had just emerged from the station. She wore a broad-brimmed black felt hat much like a man's, while her long black cape being unfastened, revealed a middy blouse of flaming red. Her feet were clad in stout, black, laced boots, above which an inch or two of cotton stocking met a dark cloth skirt. An eccentric figure, taken as a whole. "And yet," Nance whispered as she passed them hurriedly, "she has an air about her. See what I mean, Jack?"

"Yeah," he admitted, "but I bet she's a crank of some sort, just the same. You know, what they call a—a character. You'd think—"

Jack paused. The eccentric lady had turned and was approaching rapidly. "I'm looking for two young people by the name of Nelson," she said crisply. "Have I found them?"

The question was as unique as the woman; but in that moment her somewhat manly countenance was lighted by a contagious smile. Jack actually grinned, while Nance responded quickly: "It looks as if you had! Did Cousin Columbine send you to meet us?"

A quick nod answered her.

"I dare say you're hungry as two bears, and so am I. Come in and eat. These Eastern trains always arrive at meal times."

Still talking, she led them toward the station restaurant and motioned to seats at the counter.

"No use in paying a dollar for a dinner when you can get a hot roast beef sandwich for fifty cents. Do you like roast beef? In my opinion there's nothing better. Do you want coffee? They say it's bad for people but I've drunk it every day for more than fifty years and am still able to get about." She smiled at the waitress, and not giving the young people a chance to answer,

HEALTH MEANS CHARM AND HAPPINESS

Sparkling eyes and smiling lips speak of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The healthy active girl is both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really ill yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy. For extra energy, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

ordered: "Roast beef sandwiches, coffee, lemon meringue pie for three, please; and take your time."

Struck dumb by this breezy individual, Jack stifled a smile and gave his sister a disconcerting nudge. Their escort had flung her cape on a nearby hook, and was a noticeable figure in her broad felt hat and scarlet middy. People looked at her, mildly amused; but there was nobility in her weatherbeaten countenance, and her smile was winning.

Lunch was quickly served, and there being no privacy at the counter, was consumed in silence save for a few questions regarding their journey. As the train pulled away from the station, both boy and girl turned to watch it, feeling a subtle, regretful twinge, as if some good friend were deserting them; and as Nance resumed her meal their companion asked: "Sorry to see the train depart without you?"

"I suppose I am," replied the girl, and added at this unexpected insight of her mood: "You see, it makes me feel as if the last bridge behind us was burning. Everything's so different from Massachusetts; and not knowing Cousin Columbine at all I'm silly enough to be a little nervous."

The woman smiled one of her nice smiles.

"You needn't be. I don't think you'll find Columbine Nelson hard to live with."

"Have you known her long?" asked Jack, hoping to secure a bit of light on the character of their unseen relative.

"All my life. She was born at Pine Ridge seventy-odd years ago in a covered wagon."

"I know," said Nance. "It's one of our family stories, that, and how she happened to be named."

"Is it indeed?" The woman tipped their waitress and glanced up quickly. "Oh, there you are, Mark!"

The lunch room was almost empty now, and as she slipped from the high stool Nance saw a tall young fellow in a sombrero which he removed as he caught sight of their companion.

Jack stole an amused glance at Nancy—a glance she had no trouble in interpreting. It said as plainly as he'd spoken: "Enter the forbidden boy friend! Take care, Sis!" It was Jack's glance, not the sudden arrival of this unexpected youth which made her color rise, and, suddenly, the girl was furious with her brother.

"This is Mark Adam, who is to drive us up," explained the lady. "Mark, these young folks are Nancy and Jack Nelson. Where are your trunk checks, Jack? I presume you've both brought luggage. And where's Matthew, Mark?"

The young man smiled, showing strong, white teeth and a crinkle of humor around the eyes.

"Glad to know you." He stretched out a welcoming hand. "Matt's outside on the truck—too bashful to come in and meet the—er lady. That's it" (as Jack produced the checks). "You'll find the car parked back of the station. I'll be there as soon as I help Matt with the baggage."

"Mark's a good boy," observed their new acquaintance as the driver strode away. "He and his brother came down to the creamery to-day (they run a dairy ranch), so I roped them in to drive us and get your trunks. There isn't a better driver in Pine Ridge than Mark Adam, Nancy, so you've no call to feel nervous going up the pass. Here we are." They had left the station and were crossing a broad parking space. "You're to ride with Mark, Jack. You boys must get acquainted, and I want a chance to get acquainted with your sister."

Jack grinned as he helped them to their places. He longed to ask if their antiquated cousin had given these instructions in order to keep Nance and "that good-looker" as far apart as possible. Knowing that something of this sort was in his mind, Nancy threw him a warning glance, and said, as she sat down beside the eccentric lady whom she was beginning to like immensely: "It's queer, but I feel acquainted with you already; and do you realize we don't even know your name?"

The lined face brightened humorously.

"The truth is, I never tell my name if I can avoid it. That's the only grudge I've got against my par-

BABY'S OWN SOAP

Enjoyed by five generations of Canadians.

Do you suppose our Otto will have to go?" Aurora's apt to get flustered in an emergency, but I never saw her so worked up."

This brought a laugh; and Mark said dryly: "I didn't know we'd ever had a christening in Pine Ridge, Miss Columbine. Too bad that party was interrupted by a war!"

"It wasn't," retorted the old lady. "I called back: 'Keep still, Aurora. This is the first tub bath I've had since my mother washed me in a tin dish pan with only a covered wagon for privacy, and I wouldn't cut it short if the whole Germany army was on the lawn.' I could tell she was mad by the way she thumped downstairs, but she got over it before I put on my clothes. Here comes Matthew now. Slow down. I'm going to stop him."

She signalled wildly, and a truck drew up beside them, though it seemed to Nancy that both vehicle and the driver did so with reluctance. The latter started to remove his hat, found he had none on, and blushed furiously. The truck emitted a sort of groan.

"If you reach home first, Matthew, just sit and wait till we get there," ordered Miss Columbine. "You can tell Aurora I said to give you a slice of chocolate cake. And this is as good a time as any to make you acquainted with my cousins, Nancy and Jack Nelson. Don't drive recklessly up the pass and lose those trunks over the edge, will you? I dare say they're valuable, and I don't trust your driving as I do Mark's."

"Over seventy, I'll admit," alleged their companion, her eyes twinkling, "but not so feeble as she led you to believe. Stop staring at me, Jack. If it's the middy blouse you'll just have to get used to it. A middy's a life-saver in a place like Pine Ridge where there's no dressmaker. I welcomed them with joy when they came into fashion years ago; and I shall continue to wear them fashion or no fashion, as long as they can be bought by mail. The red ones are for gala occasions like the present. Usually I wear blue. Here comes our driver. Will you kindly testify that my name is Nelson, Mark? These young folks seem to be unbelieving."

Mark Adam laughed as he swung into the driver's seat.

"It is unless she got married when I dropped her at the Court House two hours back," he stated. "I saw that cop give you an admiring glance, Miss Columbine."

"Admiring!" Columbine Nelson sniffed contemptuously. "It's more likely he was thinking: 'There's that old freak come down from Pine Ridge again.' Stop at the Cash and Carry for a box of canned stuff, Mark; and then head for home or Matthew will get there first and not know where to put the luggage."

"Can't Aurora tell him?"

They had turned into a street that faced the mountain, from which Nancy could hardly take her eyes.

"Not Aurora Tubbs," Cousin Columbine was saying. "She's so flushed at the idea of having company that like as not she'd have him put those trunks in the bathroom. We have a bathroom, Nancy, which no doubt you'll be relieved to hear. There's only one other in the village, and that's in a summer cottage belonging to a rich oil man from Oklahoma. I went to the extravagance in 1914, just before the great war started over in Europe. I remember the date because I was christening the tub when the news came, and Aurora (her sister married a German, Otto Weismuller up at Cripple Creek and as good a fellow as ever lived), came rushing upstairs with the paper. She actually pounded on the door, and shouted: 'Miss Columbine! Miss Columbine! Don't bother to wash. The Germans have started fighting.'

"Too crushed to move," he told her, and proceeded to start the engine as quietly as its age allowed. "I'll park somewhere on a side street, Miss Columbine. There's no space in front of the Cash and Carry; but I'll walk over and get your box. It's only half a block."

Eager to stretch his legs, Jack offered assistance; and as the boys strode off the old lady remarked critically: "Jack's thin, isn't he? Grown too fast, most likely, and been cooped up in school. A year in the open will do wonders for him."

Nance thought, with sudden consternation: "A year! Does she expect us to stay that long?" but managed to answer: "That's why Mother let him come. The doctor said he needed outdoor life more than a diploma."

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes:

"I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was so affected that it was with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now freer from aches and pains than I have been for some ten years. In fact I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."—W. M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid through the natural channel.

Little Helps For This Week

"He healeth the broken in heart and bindeth up their wounds. He telleth the number of the stars and calleth them all by name. Psalm 147:3-4.

Teach me your mood O patient stars,
Who climb each night the ancient sky,
Leaving on space no shade, no scars,
No trace of age, no fear to die.

Look up to the heavens and the quietness of the stars would seem to reproach you. "We are safe up here" they seem to say, "we shine fearless and confident, for the God who gave the primrose its rough leaves to hide it from the blast of uneven springs hangs us in the awful hollows of space. We cannot fall out of His safety. Lift up your eyes on high and behold; who hath created these things that bringeth out their host by number? He calleth them all by names. By the greatness of His might, for He is strong in power, not one faileth."

A gooseberry bush bearing a fuchsia flower was among the rarities exhibited at the Royal Oxfordshire Horticultural Society's Show.

Niagara" on July 17th for Australia, where she will be married to Mr. J. S. Hislop, who is now residing at Sidney, New South Wales.

Didsbury was well represented at the Calgary Stampede on Monday and all seemed favorably impressed with the quality of the exhibits and the high standard of entertainment provided this year. The musical ride by the Mounted Police appears to be one of the highlights of the evening performance from the comments to be heard from the visitors.

Mrs. Marie Coates wishes to announce that she will be in Didsbury each Saturday from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. at the Mary McCann hemstitching and fancywork rooms, next door north of secondhand store, Main St. for the purpose of giving free marceling and beauty parlor work in exchange for votes in the popularity contest. See Mrs. Coates for further particulars. A strictly no cash deal.
